for a pretty long time. i.e for over a year.

But from the Text Book Committee's Reports hereto submitted, it is seen that the Revision of the Readers is pending at least from 1910-11 i.e. for over 6 years.

Thus 24/9/15

Draft D.O to the Director of Ed is submitted.

The question has been raised in pursuance of the Dewan's orders communicated orally by Mr. Rajagopalachari. If thought fit, the draft D.O. may be approved

My dear Mr. Madhava Rao,

Your D.O. No.459/E.A. dated the 1st instant, about the Kannada III and IV Readers. I enclose a note by the Translator which gives all the information required. About the other books, I shall write again, as it takes some time.

Yours sincerely,

M. Shamanna Rao

EARLIER STAGE.

(1) As early as 22nd October 1892 the writing of Kannada Readers Nos.III and IV was under contemplation (Vide Resolution No.III, page 9).

(2) At the Meetings of the Kannada Sub-Committee held on 13th May 1893 and 23rd June 1893, the size of the books, III and IV Readers, the method of treatment of each lesson and other details were settled.

(3) At the Text-Book Committee meeting held on 12th October 1894 the length of each lesson for the III Reader was limited to between 30 and 40 printed lines and the number of lessons to 100 and the number of lines of poetry to 400. Some subjects of lessons were also suggested.

(4) The work of preparing a higher reader was recommended to be postponed until those of a lower standard were ready. (Vide Annual Report of the T.B. Committee for the year ending 31.10.1896)

(5) At the Annual Text-Book Committee Meeting held on 9th October 1899 the work of completing the Mysore series of Readers was settled to be expedited.

(6) A resolution (No.I) was passed to the effect that the writing of the III and IV Readers be carried out as early as possible (at the Text-Book Committee Meeting held on 12th March 1898)

(7) The contents of the Kannada III Reader were reported in 1899-1900 to be yet unsettled.

(8) At the Annual Text Book Committee Meeting held on 13th November 1902, the suggestions regarding the IV Reader superseding those of the Meeting held on 12th March 1898 were approved.

(9) In 1901-02 a draft copy of the contents for the III and IV Readers was prepared.

(10) During 1902-03, the contents of Reader No.III were elaborated.

(11) During 1903-04, the contents of the III Reader were partially revised and settled by the President.

(12) During 1904-05, the III Reader was yet unfinished.

(13) During 1905-06 no progress was made owing to pressure of work.

B. Krishnappa.
Kannada Translator
7.6.15

SECOND STAGE.

(1) The question of writing Departmental Kannada Readers Nos. III and IV was taken up in 1910-11 and a Sub-Committee was appointed for preparing a list of contents for the Readers.

(2) At the Annual Meeting of the Text Book Committee held on the 11th November 1911 Mr. V. Subramanya Iyer was appointed ~~Chairman~~ a member in place of Mr. Weir deceased.

(3) At the Annual Meeting of the Text Book Committee held on 23rd November 1912, the lists of contents of the III and IV Readers submitted by the Special Sub-Committee was approved.

(4) On 24th February 1913, 25 gentlemen were requested to state if they would write lessons for the Readers. Most of them replied in the affirmative.

(5) By 26th May 1914 all except 8 gentlemen sent their lessons, the latter ~~xxxx~~ failing to send 50 lessons entrusted to them. Several reminders were issued since May 1914 with the result that all except 12 lessons for the IV Reader were received. The Kannada Translator has written these ~~tw~~ lessons lately.

A Sub-Committee consisting of the Assistant to the Inspector General of Education, Mr. P. Ananthasubba Rao and the Kannada Translator has been finally revising the several lessons for the III Reader which will be printed after the revision.

The final revision of the lessons for the IV Reader also will be taken in hand during the Dasara holidays.

With reference to his No.20467/3431 of 13/14th instant, has the honour to state that the original plan of Anthology was a - - mere compilation of prose extracts from the classical Sanskrit - works without any changes in the original, whereas the Sub-Commit -tee in its last meeting held on 13th November last, was of opi- nion that two separate anthologies in prose and poetry should be compiled on the lines to be laid down by the Sub-Committee, that the passages must be chosen from Vedic as well as later Sanskrit works, the compilers being expected to modernise, expurgate and - add notes where necessary. Such a work should be divided into periods and entrusted to three or four persons who are severally specialists in those periods of literature.
